Dvar TorahBy: Moshe Goldwasser

I received a phone call from a sixty-year-old man. His voice was familiar, and after he told me who he was, I remembered that I had seen him once. I did not have any special connection to him before that conversation, but he said, "I want to invite you to a se'udas haodah." He lives in my neighborhood, so I was happy to agree, although I couldn't understand why I'd been chosen to participate in his seuda. "What was the seudah for?" I asked. He said "I had covid-19. I was on a respirator in a medically induced coma for an entire month, and then, baruch Hashem, I woke up." "Baruch rofai cholim" I said with feeling. He had reached death's door and returned to life! I still didn't feel a special connection to this man, but I was happy for him, that with Hashem's help, I would come. I was not the only person to receive such a call. There were 18 people at the seudah. Some of the people new this man more than others did, but we were all wondering why he had specifically chosen us. He didn't leave us in suspense for too long. The man, who through Hashem's kindness had regained his strength, began, "while I was lying in coma, I saw myself going to shamayim, and suddenly I saw my mother, who already passed away. She said to me 'what are you doing here, go back down' 'I want to go back down' I told her 'But I can't.' 'Look down now and you will see that you can.' I looked down and I saw all of you!" when he said that a tremor ran through my entire body. I hadn't known. I can tell you that I never dreamed of the power of my Tehillim. Someone had given me that name and told me that he was extremely sick. I took a Sefer Tehillim and said 1 perek – just one! – and then I mentioned his name and I, with that one perek, helped pull him back to the land of the living.

Riddle of the WeekBy: Shmuel Schiff

You're stuck in a room with two doors. One of them leads to a cliff, and one leads to safety.

If you open the door, you have to go through it. In the room, two people are with you.

One of them always lies, and one of them always says the truth, but you don't know which is which.

How can you tell which door to go through if you can ask only one question?

The first person to go to Shalom Frenkel with the correct answer will receive a bottle of soda!

Joke of the Week

By: Shmuel Schiff

What's the problem with lawyer jokes?

Lawyers don't think they're funny, and no one thinks they're jokes.
